

marelli

ARTIFICIAL LEATHERS

Care & Maintenance Instructions

The maintenance of artificial leather is very easy but has to be carried out properly in order not to alter its characteristics in time.

We recommend to read the cleaning instructions of every article very carefully.

You can find the links to the manufacturers' websites on our internet page, by clicking on each artificial leather article. Unless otherwise specified by the manufacturer, we recommend to remove any stain as fast as possible by using a soft microfibre cloth dampened with lukewarm water.

In case of more resistant stains, use lukewarm water and a neutre soap and a hand brush with soft bristles. Repeat the process if necessary.

Attention!

In case of use of common cleaners, please always follow the application and dosing recommendations of the respective manufacturers.

Do not use cleaners containing oil and grease.

Dried stains or stains caused by substances penetrated into the artificial leather for a long time may not be removed completely.

Artificial leathers are not resistant to solvents, chlorides, polishing agents and aerosol sprays.

The use of substances or cleaners that are not suitable may cause irreversible damages to the artificial leather.

Please also note that jeans or other textiles can cause colour marks which are impossible to clean and are not covered by any guarantee.